

Preliminary Results for November 2021

	Nov 2021	Oct 2021	Nov 2020	M-M Change	Y-Y Change
Index of Consumer Sentiment	66.8	71.7	76.9	-6.8%	-13.1%
Current Economic Conditions	73.2	77.7	87.0	-5.8%	-15.9%
Index of Consumer Expectations	62.8	67.9	70.5	-7.5%	-10.9%

Next data release: Wednesday, November 24, 2021 for Final November data at 10am ET

Read our October 22nd report: Confidence in Financial Institutions

Surveys of Consumers chief economist, Richard Curtin

Consumer sentiment fell in early November to its lowest level in a decade due to an escalating inflation rate and the growing belief among consumers that no effective policies have yet been developed to reduce the damage from surging inflation. One-in-

Featured Chart (PDF)

Partisan Expectations
(Trump: 2017Q2 - 2020Q2; Biden: 2021Q2-2021Q3; Gap: Democrat - Republican)

	Trump Gap	Biden Gap		Trump Gap	Biden Gap
Index Consumer Expectations	-55.0	+51.5	Net Personal Expectations	-31.3	+45.0
Net Business Expectations	-80.1	+91.1	Net Economic News Heard	-12.1	+100.6
Net Unemployment Expectations	-71.4	+66.5	Net Real Income Expectations	-26.5	+32.2

Note: Positive scores indicate Democrats more favorable; negative scores indicate Republicans more favorable.

