

安全第一 CHÚ Y AN TOÀN AVEŢI GRIJĂ OŞTANITE S

MARKETS | REVIEW

Are Stocks Near a Bottom?

By Nicholas Jasinski Follow and Jacob Sonenshine Follow July 22, 2022 7:01 pm ET

...

Capitulation occurs when investors grow so worried about future earnings and slower growth that they unload stocks, further tanking the market, rather than hang on in hope of an upturn. Such a slump, coming when there isn't bad news to send shares lower, can mean sentiment isn't likely to worsen, and that a bottom has been hit.