

Stocks Jump as Dow, S&P 500 Post November Gains With Late Rally

By Callum Keown

The stock market rose Friday in a shortened Black Friday session, ending a volatile November and capping off a strong Thanksgiving week.

...

In a remarkable comeback, the Dow closed 0.3% higher for the November. It was down 3.8% just eight days ago.

The S&P 500 did the same, eking out a monthly gain in the final minutes of trading to keep its seven-month winning streak alive—the index was 4.4% down for the month on Nov.20.

The technology-heavy Nasdaq finished strongly but lagged the other two indexes, down 1.5% in November.